

I have been an XM subscriber since the beginning of the year and have very much enjoyed the commercial free listening. The addition of Traffic and weather was very much anticipated. I live in Southern California, which, like the other metropolitan areas XM serves, I must commute. To have Instant Traffic is very much a blessing as opposed to trying to track traffic via a local station and wait thru commercials or business reports that I don't want to hear. Often times, the difference between hitting or missing traffic comes down to how fast I can hear Instant Traffic. I am in sales, and making appointments is my business. Having to wait for normal traffic reports, just doesn't cut it. Like satellite TV, I very much enjoy the programming and the ease at which I can access the programs I want or need, when I want, not every so often or after the sports report from the local station.

I very much appreciate your consideration leaving Instant Traffic and Weather as a significant part of XM Radio. I'm paying for it, so it's my choice.

Cordially,
